

J. P. MORGAN DIES IN ROME TODAY

Great American Financier
Had Been in a Comatose Condition.

END WAS PEACEFUL.

Expires While Surrounded by His Daughter, Son-in-Law and Others of Party Accompanying Him.

Rome, March 31.—By Henry Wood, Rome correspondent of the United Press: J. Pierpont Morgan the great American financier, died at the Grand Hotel here today, the actual time of his demise being given as 12:05 p. m. Announcement of the death was not made to the waiting newspaper men for some time after the end came, the information being held up until private cables could be sent to the London and New York houses of the Morgan firm.

The end came peacefully, while Morgan was still unconscious. Herbert L. Satterlee, Mrs. Satterlee, daughter of the financier, Prof. Bastianelli, Drs. Starr and Dixon and other members of the Morgan party were at the bedside, but for hours before his death the banker gave no sign of consciousness. Morgan passed the night in a comatose state, and at the Grand Hotel early today Herbert L. Satterlee, the aged financier's son-in-law, admitted that the banker's condition was increasingly critical.

When Prof. Giuseppe and Drs. M. Allen Starr and G. A. Dixon, vetted the plan of the Satterlees to remove Morgan to London, fearing the exposure attendant upon crossing the channel, Satterlee then proposed to take his father-in-law to Paris today, but that too, was abandoned. The physicians said that any exposure of Morgan might prove fatal.

His strength was perceptibly lessened today and the doctors discovered that his system failed to assimilate even the liquid food administered by injection.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN.

Morgan's collapse was today attributed to the strain incident upon his appearance last winter before the Pulo "Money Trust" Committee in Washington according to the statement today of Dr. M. Allen Starr the New York nerve specialist who is attending the financier.

During the day messengers from King Victor Emanuel, Pope Pius and the British German and Greek embassies called at the Grand Hotel to inquire after Morgan's health.

At the hour when Morgan's pulse was 140 and temperature 104, his respiration was 48, and the doctors said his death might be a matter of only hours.

Morgan's death was directly due to lack of nourishment. From last Sunday the doctors could not induce the patient to eat because of the lack of functional vitality in the nerve centers. The refusal of a throat muscles to do their duty made it impossible for Morgan to swallow. The doctors resorted to feeding by injection, but expressed the fear that such liquid food as could be administered in that way would not keep him up long.

Late last night it was discovered that Morgan was not assimilating even the liquid diet and then the doctors knew it was but a matter of hours until death. He had no illness and suffered no pain but wasted away simply because his body was incapable of nourishing itself by reason of the inactivity of the nervous system.

Knowledge of the real condition of Morgan was as much of a surprise to persons in the Grand Hotel as to the outside world. After he came here from Naples on his recent return from Egypt, the banker was so hedged about with secrecy and his relatives so blandly assured inquirers that all the needed was absolute rest to restore him to health again after the attack of acute indigestion, that the public was led to believe that he was suffering from nothing more serious than a nervous breakdown.

All attempts at concealment failed when Prof. Bastianelli, the eminent Rome, specialist; Dr. G. A. Dixon, Morgan's physician and Dr. M. Allen Starr, the New York nerve specialist summoned Saturday night from Naples, held a hasty consultation yesterday afternoon and then issued a formal bulletin, telling of Morgan's real condition.

J. Pierpont Morgan was born at Hartford, Conn., April 17, 1837. He differed from many of the other financiers that have made history in that he was the son of a rich man, Junius S. Morgan, who was a banker before him. At 21 he entered his father's bank and after learning the business from the ground up, he was sent to New York as his father's agent. In 1871 he allied himself with the powerful banking firm of Drexel & Co., of Philadelphia, and in 1895 the house of Morgan and Company was formed. It was not a corporation but a partnership and in it were eleven partners, all specialists in their line. It made and unmade railroad and industrial corporations, created banks and trust companies and in very few instances did failure overwhelm any interest that bore the Morgan O. K.

His control was his personality. Morgan was a man of tremendous passions. He ruled. Those who disputed that rule had to fight. And few who fought survived. His influence was almost uncanny. Wise men bought and sold stocks blindly on the Morgan say-so. He fought union labor whenever that issue was raised in any concern he was interested in.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Winsome girls, at a meeting of the Oliver Iron and steel mill strikers in Labor Hall yesterday afternoon promised to use hugs and kisses on men who attempt to return to work today. William N. Trautman, organizer for the Industrial Workers of the World, called for volunteers at the meeting, and instantly all but one of the 100 girls present offered to dispense caresses. Trautman said he wanted the prettiest girls among the strikers to appear at the gates of the plant at dawn this morning and "rush up and hug and kiss any striker who cannot otherwise be persuaded from returning to work."

Playing with matches while he was ill in bed, 4-year-old Andrew Cobleskie Jr., yesterday set fire to his bed in Philadelphia and burned to death. Only the fact that members of the family happened in the child's room a few minutes after he struck the matches prevented the spread of the flames through other parts of the house.

Two sons of Webb Snyder, of Boone, Watauga county, N. C., have been indicted by the county grand jury on the charge of having murdered their father, who was shot to death last fall. The young men, it is stated, were arraigned before a magistrate last fall, when they were given their freedom upon the claim that they shot in self-defense. They contended that their father shot first, and one chamber of his revolver is said to have been empty. Another son, 13 years old, is said to have stated that he fired his father's revolver, and he pointed out the tree in which the bullet had buried itself. With this information the commonwealth's attorney had the young men indicted. One of them was arrested but the other is said to have escaped.

More than a score of passengers on the New York Central railroad's N. Y. special bound from Buffalo, to New York had a narrow escape from drowning in their berths early yesterday when the train left the rails at Yost's New York, and five Pullman cars went crashing down banks of the Mohawk river and into the turbulent and swollen stream. A dozen or more passengers suffered painful injuries, but none serious, from flying glass.

ILLINOIS TOWN IS NOW DOOMED

Women and Children of Shawneetown are Ordered to Hills.

LEVEES STILL HOLD.

Gruesome Work of Recovering Bodies
In Ohio—Cities are Morgues—
$4,000,000 Loss in Hamilton

St. Louis, Mo., March 31.—A long distance phone message received from Shawneetown, Ill., on the Ohio river said that the town was doomed; that the men and children had all been ordered to the hills and that practically all of them had been removed at that hour. The girls manning the telephone exchange were ordered out of the building, as this message was being sent.

Cairt, Ill., (March 31 (8:30 A.M.))—At this hour the levees were still holding and wire communication with the outside world was maintained. The local forecaster said that the Ohio river would probably reach a higher mark than during the big flood last spring. The seventh militia regiment of Chicago and Naval Reserves are expected here on a special train at noon today.

Hamilton, O., March 31.—Sixty bodies recovered and property damage aggregating $4,000,000 was the result here today of the flood destruction here. Sixty bodies have been recovered. Many more were found today. The number that went down the river with the flood cannot be estimated. Business houses are being cleaned. Subscriptions were opened today toward a fund of $500,000 to loan small property owners at low interest. Utmost precautions to guard against disease are being taken. All water is being boiled. The water mains were opened today. Electric lights will be turned on tonight. Pontoon bridges are replacing structures swept away. The city hall is still in use as a morgue.

Columbus, O., March 31.—At 7:30 o'clock today there were sixty-four bodies, three of which had not been identified, in the Columbus morgue. The waters in Central Ohio have receded and the battle against the mud and slime residue deposited in the flood districts was in full swing.

Governor Cox said that the situation was "well in hand" and that telegrams and telephone messages received indicated that communication by rail and wire was being generally restored. Burial of the flood victims was in progress today.

SPECIAL TERM OF U. S. COURT.

A special term of the United States District Court for the eastern district of Virginia will be opened late this afternoon by Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., of Richmond, for the purpose of hearing of the case of the United States against Theodore Johnson for violation of the statutes in relation to trespass on United States property. The government contends that a portion of a house erected by Johnson is on the Ft. Myer reservation. The case has been in the court for several years and the evidence is largely technical. Johnson is represented by Attorney James B. Clements and the government's case will be presented by District Attorney Groner, of Norfolk.

FINED FIFTY DOLLARS.

Officers Make Descent Upon Alleged Speakeasy Yesterday Afternoon.

Suspecting that liquor was being sold or disposed in a house on the west side of Payne street, between Cameron and Queen streets Chief Goods, Sergeants Bettis and Scott, and Policemen Noland and Kerns yesterday afternoon surrounded the place and entered. Six negro men were found within. Robert Ashby was locked up on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday and without license, and the others were cited to appear as witnesses. The police took possession of a crate of beer and a small quantity of whisky and gin.

Ashby was brought before the Police Court this morning.

Most of the colored men found in the place were called upon to give testimony. One acknowledged that Ashby gave him beer yesterday morning, and the accused corroborated his statement.

Ashby was accordingly fined $50 for dispensing liquor on Sunday in violation of the laws of the state.

The other witnesses when asked to explain their presence in the place gave sundry reasons for having been enclosed in the net laid by the officers. Some said they were on their way to Arlington, others for Washington, and that they merely dropped in to pass the time while waiting for trains. Three darkies caught in the place alleged that they were on their way to church, and stopped to make friendly calls.

The above brings to mind a case in the Police Court many years ago. A white man had been arrested on the charge of keeping his saloon open on Sunday. About a dozen white men who were in the place when the officers entered were cited to appear as witnesses. Upon being called upon to testify it was impossible to get anyone of the party to acknowledge he had procured liquor, and when asked to explain their presence in the saloon on Sunday morning, they gave sundry reasons. Two or three alleged they had called to shave the proprietor, as many others affirmed that they served him with milk and the remainder told the court they were in the habit of making friendly calls upon the accused on the first day of the week.

TEMPERATURE FOR THE WEEK.

Temperatures above the season average over most of the country, with predictions generally below normal in the North and near normal in the South, probably will prevail during the coming week, according to the Weather Bureau's weekly bulletin.

"No pronounced cold wave will cross the country during the week," the bulletin predicts. "Frequent rains are probable on the Pacific Coast as far south as Northern California. Disturbance central Sunday morning in the northwest will move eastward along the northern border and cause unsettled weather and local rains at the beginning of the week in the region east of the Mississippi river."

Another disturbance will appear in the Far West Tuesday, cross the Middle West Wednesday and the Eastern States Thursday or Friday. This disturbance will be attended by general rains and be followed by a change to cooler weather."

Notice to Gas Consumers.

Gas bills for quarter ending March 1, 1913, having been delivered, this is to notify all consumers that a discount of 30 cents per 1,000 feet will be allowed on all bills paid on or before April 1, 1913. After that date no discount will be allowed, and delinquents will be required to make early settlement. By order of the Committee on Light.

EXCITEMENT ON THE NEW YORK EXCHANGE

Market Flurried, But No
Indications of Serious Losses Noted.

MANY ARE PRESENT.

No Marked Reaction Followed in London When Death of the Money
King Was Announced.

New York, March 31.—Market opened flurried with fractional losses and intense excitement on the floor, but there was no indication of serious losses.

Warned by the alarming news in the morning papers of Sunday and today, the largest representation of the membership of the Stock exchanges seen on the floor in years, was present at 10 o'clock today for the opening.

U. S. Steel opened with a sale of 4,500 shares at prices from 61 to 61 1/4, and the latter price predominated and marking a decline but three-quarters over the close of Saturday. Southern Railway opened with a decline of one-quarter to an eighth, but rallied quickly, while Reading, which showed a decline of one point, the heaviest recorded at the opening, recovered the full point within two minutes of the opening. L. & N. generally regarded as a Morgan stock, showed an initial gain on the opening of one-and-a-quarter, the initial figure being one-thirty-seven-and-a-half.

Union Pacific which closed on Saturday at 152 3/4, opened at 151 1/2, but immediately recorded to a level well.

New York, March 31.—Morning paper stories predicting the death of J. Pierpont Morgan, attracted a large crowd to the sidewalk before the dingy old bank building at the corner of Broad street. It was a quiet crowd which evinced little excitement and the only effect noticeable when shortly after nine o'clock a bulletin announcing the death of the American financier, was passed, was a momentary hush.

It was the consensus of opinion among a number of the leaders in the street among the crowd, that the announcement would have no serious effect on the market owing to the careful plans that have been under way for several weeks to meet just such a contingency.

The dead financier was regarded as the real ruler of the American kingdom of finance.

London, March 31.—It was evident at the opening of the London market, that the possibilities of J. P. Morgan's death had been effectually discounted. While the Morgan issues opened a trifle weak and with fractional losses, there were early recoveries and it was evident that the expected announcement of the American financier's death, would not be accompanied by any re-action.

The decline in American stocks at the opening ranged from one quarter to three quarters of a point without any real pressure, and mining stocks actually showed an improvement.

Paris, March 31.—News of J. P. Morgan's death today in Rome reached Paris by way of New York. The report was heard on the Bourse shortly before closing this afternoon and apparently had no effect on stocks.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

District Deputy Andrew Oehmann, of Washington, yesterday afternoon installed the following officers of O'Kane Council, No. 434, Catholic Benevolent Legion, of this city: John D. McFarland, collector; Michael Cregan, marshal; James Roche, chancellor, and Sylvester Breen, Michael Igou, and John G. Eberhart, Jr., trustees. LOCAL BREVITIES.

There is a decided current in the river, caused by the rains last week, and considerable drift wood is passing this city.

The alarm of fire between seven and eight o'clock this morning was caused by a burning chimney of a house on the southeast corner of Queen and St. Asaph streets.

The Willard Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held tomorrow (Tuesday), afternoon, at 3 o'clock at No. 715 Queen street.

Washington was struck by a hail storm about one o'clock this afternoon.

William H. Hagans, secretary of the Emerson Steam Pump Company, died in a Washington Hospital yesterday afternoon. The deceased was found on the street in an unconscious condition Saturday afternoon.

SCOUTS TO RAISE FUNDS.

Will Assist Boys Who Have Lost Parents in Western Floods.

Scout Masters of several Western cities have sent letters to Scout Commissioner Harry W. Rudd, asking aid for the homeless Boy Scouts in the flood districts, left without parents, or home. The writer in one of his letters to Mr. Rudd, states that the Boy Scouts did good work, leaving their own homes to help others to safety, only to return and find their own homes carried away by the flood. The money will be raised by these boys and it is earnestly desired by Scouts of this city that everyone will help in this work. The Scouts will in the next day or so have tickets for sale which will entitle the holder to a voice in the disposition of a morris rocker, donated to the Boy Scouts of this city by M. Ruben & Sons.

NEW DOG LAW.

Arrangements Will Soon be Made to Establish a Pound.

It is generally supposed the dog pound will be constructed at the city gas works, where unlicensed and ownerless canines will be confined. After a certain time, should no one appear to reclaim the animals, they will be put to death by gas.

As was stated Saturday, the new law is now in force, and according to its provisions muzzles are required on all animals of the canine species—which are allowed to run at large within the city limits.

FREE METHODIST CHURCH.

The district quarterly meeting was one of more than ordinary interest. It resulted in the conversion of some persons. Rev. and Mrs. D. J. Santimer have consented to remain and continue the revival services every night to Thursday inclusive. The services may be continued longer. All are cordially invited to attend.

CARDINALS PLAY CLIMBERS TODAY

Alexandria Team to Meet
Clark Griffith's Near Champions.

INTEREST IS SHOWN.

Thousands of School Children Are Guests of Washington Manager at Concrete Coliseum This Afternoon.

For the first time in the history of Alexandria a local baseball team will meet the Washington team of the American League, and as a result, thousands of Alexandrians journeyed to the Capital City this afternoon to encourage the home boys.

The team selected to represent Alexandria is the Cardinal Athletic Club, an organization composed of well known young men of this city. The game is the result of the banquet given this winter to Clark Griffith, stated that he would give the Cardinals a game, and allow them half of the receipts. Furthermore he would extend an invitation to all the school children of Alexandria to be present as his guests.

As a result of the invitations the public schools had only one session today and thousands of youngsters journeyed to Washington to witness the contest.

The game was called at 3 o'clock, and Mayor Thomas A. Fisher, who has taken a great deal of interest in the contest between the Cardinals and the Climbers, tossed the first ball across the plate.

In many respects it will be the most unique engagement of the exhibition series, and while the Alexandria boys are not overconfident of victory, they are hopeful of at least making a better showing than the team from Philadelphia which put in the last two days of last week here.

Manager Crump has had his Alexandrians at practice for about three weeks, and while the first line-up has not been definitely decided upon, the nine will be picked from the following: Astyrke, Miller, Hayden, Nugent, Corli, Brown, Tremay, Murphy, Williams, Capt. Cockrell, McBride, Jones, Deavers, Burgendine, Cox, Bayne, Gorman, Wells, Bieden, Owens, Howard, Hicks, Douglas, Frank Cockrell and B. Brown.

FUNERAL.

The funeral of the late Thomas Houston Walker took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, 210 Duke street. The services were conducted by Rev. C. R. Strausburg, pastor of Methodist Protestant Church, and the pallbearers were Messrs. Thomas Arnold, Ed. Arnold, Carl Mander, George May, William Bradley and William Power.

URGE NEW SCHOOLHOUSE

Labor and Fraternal Organizations Unite to Further Erection of High School Building

A joint meeting of a number of committees, representing various labor and fraternal organizations of the city, and having for their object the furtherance of the cause of education in Alexandria, was held in the rooms of the Alexandria Trades Council Saturday night.

The meeting was the result of a movement started at a meeting of the Trades Council about three weeks ago, at which a committee of three was appointed to ask for a hearing before the joint committee on finance and schools of the City Council on the ordinance providing for the erection of a new high school building, or of the unions affiliated with the Trades Council and any other organizations interested were requested to appoint similar committees to co-operate with the one from the Trades Council. The meeting Saturday night was one composed of the members of these various committees and from the number present an other interest manifested the meeting was a great success.

An organization was effected by the election of Howard T. Colvin, of the Trades Council, chairman, O. H. Daniels of the Order of Fraternal Americans, vice chairman, and T. R. Fones, of the Carpenters and Joiners, secretary.

The Chairman briefly stated the objects of the meeting, calling attention to the large number of school children in Alexandria who are at present attending school only one session a day by reason of the crowded condition of the schools and to the further fact that in all probability a large number of children would be denied admission to the schools at the next school session, unless some steps were speedily taken to remedy the condition. An ordinance providing for the erection of a high school building had been pending in the City Council for some months he said, but for some unaccountable reason no action had up to the present time been taken with reference to it. The organizations represented had appointed the committees present to ask for a hearing before the joint committee on finance and schools on the ordinance referred to.

Councilman A. D. Brockett, who was present by special invitation was then introduced and for nearly an hour discussed the question of the importance of education with particular reference to Alexandria.

Mr. Brockett called attention to the fact that there are at the present time 285 children in the schools of Alexandria between the ages of 8 and 12 years attending school only one session a day. He said this meant that for many of four children 6 years were received in 3 years; that a boy or girl at 18 years of age would have only the education he should have at 15 years of age. This he contended was wrong, "an injustice to the children who are to become the future citizens of the commonwealth." Alexandria boys and girls the speaker said would have to compete in the business and industrial world with boys and girls educated in Washington and elsewhere and for that reason no stone should be left unturned to bring the public school system of Alexandria up to the standard.

New Summer Robe Patterns

Robe patterns of voiles and crepes, this spring's fashionable materials, are given a prominent position in our present displays. The vogue for the soft, clinging effects is responsible for the position accorded voile and crepe. They are the most successful in accomplishing the draping, so essentially a feature of present day styles.

We recognized their important style position and were guided by them in making our selections, which we now present in the stylish new colors of old blue, light blue, pink, canary, tan and all white, embroidered in colors, others are colored and embroidered in self-tone.

Priced from $10.50 to $25.00 each

A number of Batiste and Voile robe patterns, elaborately hand-embroidered, at the low prices of $7.50, $8.50, and $10.00. New Ratines, in white, and colors of pink, violet, old blue, and gray; the most popular novelty, moderately priced at $1.75, $2.00, and $2.75 the yard.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION.

DUAL FUNERAL.

Bodies of Two Clansmen Interred in Family Plot.

Hillsville, Va., March 31.—The final chapter of the Hillsville courthouse tragedy was brought to a close yesterday afternoon when, in the presence of 5,000 people, the funeral services of Floyd and Claude Allen were held in the family burial plot one mile from the home of Floyd Allen, at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains.

In spite of the heavy clouds which hid the sky all day and a slight rain which fell throughout the afternoon people traveled more than 25 miles to attend the dual funeral of the men who paid the death penalty for their part in the Hillsville tragedy.

The bodies arrived at the home of Floyd Allen Saturday afternoon at 6 o'clock. A short while afterward the caskets were opened and members of the families viewed the faces of their loved ones.

As early as 9 o'clock yesterday morning the crowd commenced to gather. They came in conveyances, on horseback, and on foot. Many came from Grayson, Wythe, and Carroll counties, scores of them coming distances of 25 miles or more. By noon the crowd was enormous, and it was conservatively estimated at 5,000.

At 3 o'clock the caskets were brought out of the home and placed in wagons to be conveyed to the burial place. A few minutes later the long procession started on the journey to the last resting place of Floyd and Claude Allen.

The burial plot is located a mile from the Allen home in a cultivated field, and occupies a space on the top of a ridge. A few yards away from the burial ground is the home of William Jones. The caskets rested in the yard surrounding this home.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Floyd Zenz and the Rev. Mr. Monday, both primitive Baptists. Both ministers gave five-minute sermons, but did not take any particular note, nor did they dwell upon the circumstances which led to the deaths of the Allens.

They were followed by the Rev. J. T. Smith, a Baptist missionary, who spoke for fifteen minutes.

Immediately after the services the vast crowd was permitted to view the bodies, and for one hour people passed around the caskets and viewed the bodies.

Miss Nellie Wissler, Claude's fiancée, was in attendance, and stood at the head of the grave throughout the services. When the services were conducted, and the caskets were ready to be closed, the medal which the women of southeast Virginia had had prepared for Claude was taken from his breast and handed to Miss Wissler. She was completely broken, and wept aloud during the services. She is now the guest of Mrs. Floyd Allen.

After the graves were filled, Miss Wissler placed flowers upon Claude's grave. The floral offerings were numerous and elaborate, both graves being covered with them.

Planing Mill Destroyed.

Petersburg, Va., March 31.—Fire late yesterday destroyed the large planing mill of Jacob Savage, which besides much valuable machinery, contained more than 1,000,000 feet of lumber. Six freight cars standing in the yard, loaded with lumber, for the mill were also burned. The loss is estimated at about $100,000, partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is not known.

TAKEN TO LYNCHBURG.

Owen Dillard, Colored, Attempted to Assault White Woman.

Lynchburg, Va., March 31.—Sheriff Huddleston, of Bedford county, yesterday morning brought to the city jail for safe keeping, Owen Dillard, colored, charged with assault.

While seated at the dinner table with several of her children, Mrs. Ras Nance, who lives near Joppa Mills, Bedford county, was attacked Saturday afternoon with an axe by Dillard, who was employed on the place but his attempt was frustrated by the plucky woman when she grabbed the weapon from his hands and wounded him so badly that he fell helpless at her feet.

The negro approached the home when the husband and father was in Bedford City, and finding Mrs. Nance alone with her children he came upon her with an axe and struck her on the back of the head. The blow stunned her for a moment, but collecting her wits she wrenched the axe from the man's hand and inflicted gashes about his head and shoulders which may result in his death. The negro was unable to attempt to make his escape and was found by the authorities lying on the floor of the room. To them he confessed making the attack.

INTERESTING FIND.

Human Skull Pierced by Arrow is Found in Roanoke City.

Roanoke, Va., March 31.—A grim reminder of the dim past has been unearthed on 17th avenue s. w., on the bluff just above the Virginian Railway yards, when Montgomery Johnson, colored, was engaged in digging a foundation for a new house for Mr. Marshall Nininger, unearthed a human skull at the depth of three feet under the ground in which was buried an Indian flint arrow about four inches in length, indicating that some Indian warrior had met death at the hands of another Indian savage ages since.

The colored man while digging away stuck his pick into the skull which crumbled to pieces. The grinding jaws and teeth protruded from the soft earth, and the digger at once realized that he had struck the remains of what was once a human being. A closer examination revealed the fact that the Indian arrow head had penetrated the barrens of what was once a living man. He gathered up the pieces of skull, the jaw bones and the teeth together with the deadly effect and brought them into the city. Many of the teeth were tight into the sockets while others had become loosened. The skull bones had become soft and crumbly, but the teeth were sound and hard.

The arrow head was a perfect specimen and one of the longest ever seen. The primitive weapon is one of the most dangerous ever found in this section.

PASTE DIAMOND IN RING.

Detective Sergeant Mullen early this morning left Washington for Richmond to bring back to Washington Fred C. Valkman, 25 years old, a native of that place, who was arrested there yesterday and against whom an indictment for grand larceny was recently returned by the grand jury in Washington.

The indictment charges that Valkman on March 4 last induced a young woman of Washington to let him pawn her diamond ring on the plea that he expected some money from home and would return the ring in a few days. He did return it, but the young woman noticed that the stone looked unfamiliar. Valkman protested that the diamond was all right and added that if it weren't he did not know anything about it. He referred her to the pawnbroker and went away. Then the young woman discovered to her certainty that the stone in her ring was paste.

Detective Mullen told the grand jury which indicted Valkman that he found the jeweler who had taken the diamond out of the ring and substituted an imitation. Valkman had never even pawned the ring, detective testified.

Looted Car Their Prison.

Cape Charles, Va., March 31.—Seven negroes thieves who broke open a box car containing merchandise at Machipongo station Saturday night were surprised when they were about to depart to find themselves prisoners in the car. I. T. Hastings, the agent, discovered the negroes at work plundering the car and immediately shut and locked the doors. They were held in the car until the arrival of a fan officer and then placed in jail.

FATHER SHOTS SON.

Victim Taken to Hospital in Serious Condition.

Richmond, Va., March 31.—Angered because his son refused to go with him to Cumberland county, R. J. Lipscomb, 21 years old, is at the negro farmer, drew a pistol and shot him in the breast. The son, Charles Lipscomb, 21 years old, is at the city hospital unconscious and with small chances for recovery.

The shooting occurred at 517 North Adams street, where the son was living with his sister, a short while after midnight. The father walked out of the house leaving his son in an apparently dying condition, and proceeded down town in foot. The father surrendered to the police.

Investigation by the police disclosed that the son protested against going with his father to the latter's farm in Cumberland county and a violent quarrel ensued. Saying something about going "dead, or alive," the elder man opened fire with a revolver.

The son grappled with the father after receiving the first bullet and prevented him from firing more shots. He was aided in the struggle by his sister, Inez. The son sank to the floor unconscious after overcoming and disarming his father.

The father told the police that he shot in self-defense.

Governor Mann Sends Virginia's Condolences to Lady Wolseley.

The sympathy of Virginia upon the death several days ago of Lord Wolseley was expressed yesterday in a cablegram from Governor Mann to Lady Wolseley. The late Lord Wolseley, following a visit to the Confederate States during the civil war, wrote an appreciation of Robert E. Lee that remains to this day one of the most treasured tributes to the Southern leader.

The cablegram which was sent in care of Premier Asquith, at London, read:

"Virginia sends her high appreciation of your noble husband, and expresses the deepest sympathy for your self."

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged. This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, all of which are, Thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription. We have sold other remedies for skin troubles but none that we can recommend as highly as this for we know that D.D.D. stops the itch at once. We can give you a trial size bottle for 25 cents that will be enough to prove it. Of course all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute. But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee: "If you do not get the itch taken away the first 24 HOURS, it costs you not a cent."

GOVERNOR MANN
AND THE ALLENS.

Governor Mann, after his unex pected return to Richmond last Fri day morning, in answer to newspa per men, who quickly besieged him, gave out the following laconic state ment:

I simply desire to repeat that after the most careful examina tion of the evidence in these cases I have not the slightest doubt of the guilt of Floyd and Claude Allen, and I will not in terfere. The law must take its course.

Many persons who had engaged in the movement looking to the miti gation of the punishment meted out to the elder and younger Allen are gradually losing ardor, and no doubt in time will look at the action of the executive in a more conservative manner. In fact, numbers have re cently revised their utterances.

Governor Mann, like all other men, who hold prominent positions in this world, was called upon to pay the exorbitant price of greatness. He chanced to be head of the common wealth when a serious issue was not to be decided on sentimental grounds, but it was up to him to say whether or not law and order should be upheld in the Old Dominion.

An ominous sign of the times is the fact that some people are losing faith in the judiciary and are dis posed to treat courts of law with contempt. This is especially notice able in the young, who drink in much they hear from their elders.

The court of last resort had sus tained the jury's action in the Car roll County Court, and the Governor alone was in a position to set aside the verdict which had been in ac cordance with the law of God and man. He realized the great respon sibility resting upon him and acted accordingly.

There are incidents in history in which the pardoning power has brought great distress to those who have been entrusted with the same,
and which has caused many a kingly
head to rest uneasily.

In the latter part of the eighteenth century when forgery and larceny were punished with death in England, two young men who had committed this crime with their eyes wide open were sentenced to be executed. Their friends used all sort of arguments with George the Third, in attempts to induce him to set aside the ver dict, but the monarch called their at tention to other cases where forgers had suffered the extreme penalty of the law, and he was firm in his de termination to allow the law to take its course in their case.

Later a celebrated divine, the un fortunate Dr. Dodd, a minister of the established church, a great schol ar and a man who had written a commentary on Scriptures, was ar rested for forging the name of Lord Chesterfield. His guilt was plain and the jury sentenced him to be hang ed. Many people in England engaged in a movement for procuring royal clemency, and petitions signed by thousands, were brought to the king in a cart, as it was too bulky to be transported any other way.

The latter was inexorable as in the first instance, and told the dele gation that he saw no good reason why the condemned man should have an exception made in his case sim ply because he was Dr. Dodd. The latter paid the full penalty of the law.

In the latter part of the fifties
when the pluguglies were in evidence in Baltimore, and rowdism prevail ed in the Monumental City, three men were sentenced to be hanged there for assassinating policemen who were witnesses for the prosecution in cases where crime had been com mitted. It was another of the cases where it was necessary to enforce the law or burn the statute books and dismiss the policemen. Govern or Hicks was importuned early and late by sympathetic people for a commutation of sentence or a full pardon for the criminals. The gov ernor told deputations that so long as he was governor he would not use his pardoning power in cases where red-handed murderers were about to have justice meted out to them.

Governor Mann has merely fol lowed in the footsteps of others who have braved public opinion in order to uphold the peace and dignity of the state he represents.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN
PAYS DEBT OF NATURE.

News from Rome received last night was ominous and made it ap parent that J. Pierpont Morgan, the American money king had but a short lease on life. Hence the an nouncement that he died at 12:45 this afternoon was not a great surprise.
His condition had recently become critical, he was no longer able to eat nor swallow water and last night he lapsed into a comatose condition from which he never rallied.

The financial centers of the world had anticipated his death, and ar rangements to obviate unusual ex citement or flurries, especially in New York and London, were very successful.

Mr. Morgan has now taken his place with the late A. T. Stewart, Cornelius Vanderbilt, J. Gould and others, who in by-gone years were important factors in the financial world.

For years the mighty name of Morgan has dominated America's fi nanciers. The smile of the monarch made unknown money princes. His frown unhorsed market leaders.
Standing out in the memories of all Americans today are many incidents in the Morgan career, but chief is the way in which his gruff declara tion: "This country's affairs are sound," ended the financial pan ic of the Roosevelt administration in 1907, when it was at its high-water mark and banks were collapsing like houses of cards throughout the country.

After normal conditions had been restored Morgan sent for his son, J.
P. Morgan, Jr., and began transfer ring the burden of his affairs to younger shoulders, and it was not the impervious money emperor of former years that withstood the Un termeyer grilling before the money trust inquirers in Washington last winter, but an old man, a very old man, which showed by his very ac tion that he burden of years and the tremendous activities that had al ways characterized him were exact ing their unnecessary toll. And soon afterwards Morgan started for Eu rope. It was to be his usual vaca tion, it was carefully explained, but the house of Morgan realized that it was the journey to death.

SMILES.
By The Second Ward Bard.
GRANDPA'S HICKORY SWITCH.
I watch the kids at play around the corners of the street, And envy them their happiness and youthful joy complete,
And most of them are well-behaved
and gentle in their play,
But, generally, I find there's one whose action will betray Him as a kid who's just as full of tricks as any witch,
And then I think of Grandpa and his good old hickory switch.

Those happy days when summer
found me down on grandpa's
farm,
I often caused the good old man con cern and keen alarm,
By chasing cows and riding colts
rouse his deepest ire,
And he'd get real peevish when I'd set the hay on fire,
And when I'd drive his buggy and upset it in the ditch, Then Grandpa exercised his arm with his old hickory switch.

Last Sunday when in church I sat
and heard a sermon grand,
Some kid behind me took his knife
and worked to beat the band,
He cut his name a half-inch deep in
to that ancient pew,
And when he'd finished this, he found the sermon wasn't through,
So then into the prayer-book he cut
a spacious niche,
And, then I longed for Grandpa and his old-time hickory switch.

The other day I bought a horse and rode him many miles,
And now I am so sore it's kind o
hard to write these "smiles."
You know what this discomfort is you know just how it feels,
And now I stand up to the mantle
shelf to eat my meals,
My mind returns to happy boyhood time, the days in which My Grandpa used to figure with his frightful hickory switch.

If this town caught on fire, would

If the members of the City Demo

had better stay at home and pray.
But we shall not shirk our public

if the grim work is necessary, assist in bringing home the remains.

There are many far-fetched jokes
of various degrees of humor pub lished at the expense of Alexandria, but the following is actually true, and we believe, worthy of telling by the home-folks:

Some years ago a certain Profes sor Langford, who lectured on Arch eology and kindred subjects over at Georgetown University, was walking through one of Alexandria's streets
when he noticed a very unusual stone set among the cobbles. A brief ex amination convinced him that the stone was a valuable piece of Jasper.
Elated at his find, the profes sor started to dig out the stone with his pen-knife. He was, thereupon, accosted by a policeman, put under arrest and taken to the station-house.
"This fellow is crazy," the officer told the desk sergeant. "I found him digging up cobblestones in the middle of the street. He ought to be locked up."

"Where are you from?" inquired
the sergeant.

"From Washington," the professor answered meekly.
"Turn him loose," the sergeant di rected. "We don't want the expense of taking care of him over here. St.
Elizabeth's is the place for him."

Released from the hands of his captor the professor returned, dug up the stone and carried it to Geor getown University, where it is now on exhibition in the archeological col lection.

MAY ESCAPE TRIAL

Lunacy Commission to be Asked for Mrs. Eaton.

That Mrs. Jeanie May Eaton may never go on trial for the murder of her husband is now more than a possibility. District Attorney Baker yesterday admitted that he will ask for a special lunacy commission to determine whether Mrs. Eaton is mentally responsible.

William A. Morse, of Boston, and Francis J. Grogan, of Rockland, counsel for the accused woman, declined to say what would be the attitude of the defense if the appointment of a lunacy commission is asked, or to comment upon the district attorney's statement. They both said that they would await a more definite explanation from the district attorney relative to his plans for examining Mrs. Eaton's sanity before making any public statement.

The investigating authorities have not yet located the source from which was procured the arsenic which the government alleges caused the admiral's death. This, and the desire on the part of the district attorney to make further investigation of the murder, is said to be likely to keep Mrs. Eaton in jail for a considerable period before further action is taken against her by the government.

CLEAR FIELD FOR STUART.

No Other Candidate For Governorial Nomination.

Developments have come thick and fast in the Virginia gubernatorial situation, following the announcement by Harry St. George Tucker, of Lexington, that he has withdrawn from the contest. They strongly indicate that Henry C. Stuart, of Russell county, will have a clear field in the Democratic primary next August for the nomination.

Congressman Carter Glass, of Lynchburg, who has been urged by the temperance forces to carry the "White Ribbon" banner, made the announcement that he will not make the race. He will support Mr. Stuart.

Westmoreland Davis, of Loudoun county, who has been mentioned for the honor, has said that he could hardly be induced to get into the contest. The only other possibility as an opponent candidate to Mr. Stuart, is Lieut. Governor J. Taylor Elyson of Richmond, and it is said that he will never enter the fight.

The temperance forces in Virginia are looking for a candidate. This fact became known when two delegations representing the anti-saloon league waited upon Mr. Glass and asked him to enter the contest. The delegations called upon him at different times and Mr. Glass told them positively he would not run. In the first place he does not believe in making the liquor question a political asset and in the second place he prefers to remain in Congress, as he is slated for the chairmanship of the House Banking and Currency Committee, which will be called upon to recast the monetary laws of the nation. It is regarded as doubtful whether the anti-saloon forces of Virginia will be able to induce a man of gubernatorial timber and of state-wide prominence to oppose Mr. Stuart since Mr. Glass' refusal to carry their standard.

Laymen's Movement.

Winchester, Va., March 31.—The Laymen's Missionary Movement Conference of the Shenandoah Baptist Association, which has been in progress in First Baptist Church here since Saturday afternoon closed last night with a large and a great deal of interest was renewed in the movement in Winchester among all Protestant denominations.

The principal addresses were made by Rev. Dr. Julius Broadbent, of Berryville, Va.; Rev. W. H. Carter, of Winchester; Prof. F. A. Byerly, of Shepherdstown, Va.; B. F. Bateman, of Luray, Va.; B. F. Moonshaw, of Rocknoke, Va.; J. E. Tyler, of Staunton, Va.; and W. A. Sale, of Winchester.

Visitors were present from practically every section of the Shenandoah Baptist Association, which takes in the greater portion of the lower Virginia Valley and adjacent territory in West Virginia.

Methodist Protestants.

Lynchburg, Va., March 31.—The Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church will convene at First Methodist Protestant Church here next Wednesday morning. It is expected that 300 members will be in attendance. A majority of the visitors will come from Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and the District of Columbia. The conference has a membership of more than 30,000 with 300 churches and 160 ministers. One of the most interesting phases of the conference will be the discussion of union of the Methodist Protestant and United Brethren churches.

THE HILLSVILLE TRAGEDY.

Story of Tragedy That Caused Execution of Allens.

By request the Gazette publishes the following correct story of the Hillsville tragedy.

Floyd Allen and his son, Claude Swanson Allen, belonged to the notorious Allen clan whose reputed lawlessness for years held the natives of the Virginia mountains in terror, and culminated on March 14, 1912, in the shooting up of the Carroll county court, when five persons lost their lives. The news of the crime sent a thrill of horror throughout the nation and the shocked Virginia authorities moved expeditiously to bring the criminals to justice.

On the morning of March 14, Floyd Allen stood before the bar of the Carroll county court house, at Hillsville, to receive sentence for his part in aiding the escape of another mountaineer from the custody of the sheriff. A crowd packed the little court room for the character of the prisoner was well known. Members of the Allen family were known to be in court and trouble was though imminent.

The jury having announced a verdict of guilty, Judge Thornton L. Massie sentenced the prisoner to one year at hard labor. With the last words of the sentence a crash of arms broke from the spectators' benches. Floyd Allen, with a smoking revolver in his hand, leaped from the prisoner's dock and joined the rush of the gang toward the door.

When the court room was cleared the body of Judge Massie, riddled with bullets was found lying over his desk; Commonwealth Attorney William M. Foster and Sheriff L. F. Webb lay dead on the floor. Augustus Fowler, a juror, and Elizabeth Ayres, a spectator, were bleeding from wounds which proved fatal the next day, and Dexter Goad, clerk of the court, lay shot through the neck. Goad was one of the principal witnesses for the state at the conviction of the prisoners.

When the court room was examined it was found that more than 200 shots had been fired. Twenty-seven shots took effect upon those killed and wounded.

An army of detectives and news paper correspondents soon were scouring the muddy roads of the mountains in search of the prisoners. Floyd Allen, the cause of the shooting, who had been wounded by Sheriff Webb in the court room, was taken the day of the crime, together with his son, Victor Allen and his nephew, Byrd Marion.

Sidna Edwards, a nephew of the Allen brothers, was captured in a hut in the mountains March 22. Edwards, who is lame, had eaten nothing for several days, and was very weak when found. Claude Swanson, Allen, another son of Floyd Allen, walked up to a posse in the mountains and surrendered himself on March 28th. The next day Friel Allen, youngest member of the gang, was taken at his father's home.

Floyd Allen, charged specifically with the killing of Commonwealth Attorney Foster, was found guilty of first degree murder on May 17, and sentenced to death. Claude Allen, his son, was tried on a charge of killing Judge Massie, and convicted of murder in the second degree. The jury recommended a sentence of 15 years in the penitentiary. The state demanded a new trial, and a verdict of guilty in the first degree was rendered on July 27, and he was sentenced to death.

Friel Allen pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree, and on August 14 was sentenced to 15 years in prison. Three days later Sidna Edwards pleaded guilty to a like charge and was given a sentence of fifteen years. Victor Allen was acquitted on the charge of having participated in the murders.

Sidna Allen, brother of Floyd Allen, and recognized leader of the clan, and his nephew, Wesley Edwards, eluded pursuit for many weeks, and eventually escaped out of the Virginia mountains and made their way west. They were captured at Des Moines, Ia., September 1, as the result of a love affair of young Edwards. A letter from him was lost by Maud Ircler, of Mount Airy, N. C., and detectives followed his information and captured the two men.

Sidna Allen was sentenced for 35 years and Wesley Edwards to 27 years in the penitentiary. Byrd Marion, a relative of the Allens, was indicted with them, but the case was dismissed.

ALEXANDRIA WINS.

High School Teams Defeat Eastern High School on Saturday.

By the score of 5 to 4, the same score as was made on the previous day but with different result, the Alexandria High School baseball team defeated the Eastern High School of Washington on Saturday.

The features of this game were Anderson's pitching, and the heavy hitting of Thornt.

Deavers scored the first run in the first inning on two errors and two outs. In the fourth inning, Eastern secured a trio of runs on a walk by Dyer, Horn's out, Thornt's double, a single by Shinn, an error and two outs.

In the fifth session A. H. S. tied the score by a splendid batting rally which continued until the sixth inning. Wenzel opened Alexandria's fifth by an out from second to first.

Barnett walked, Howard flied out, Anderson doubled, Raison walked and Deavers singled. Raison being out.

In the sixth inning Fisher hit over the fence for a double, Nalls went to first on Dyer's fumble, Poss flied to center field and Wenzel and Barnett singled. This made the score five to three in favor of A. H. S.

Eastern secured one more run in the ninth inning when Horne walked and Thornt doubled.

Summary: Runs—Deavers, Fisher, Nalls, Barnett, Anderson, Dyer, Horn, Thornt and Shinn. Two base hits: Anderson, Fisher, Thornt, (2). Struck out, by Anderson, 9; by Leonard, 6. Hits off Anderson, 7; off Leonard, 3. Bases on balls, off Anderson, 3; off Leonard, 2.

KICKED BY A HORSE.

With his jaw fractured, his right ear drum ruptured, most of his front teeth missing, and a long, jagged laceration in his chin, Arthur Oliver, 21 years old, was brought to the Emergency Hospital, Washington, yesterday in a wagon from Rees, Va., where he had been kicked by a horse.

According to one of Oliver's friends, the young man was the victim of a vicious horse which had kicked a good many stablemen in the last couple of years. Oliver had been the only man who could approach the animal with safety, and his friends and himself began to think he had hypnotic power over the horse until yesterday, when, as he essayed to pass behind the animal, the latter let fly both hoofs, one of them striking Oliver on the chin.

The kick fractured Oliver's jawbone so that the doctors found it was actually broken in two, besides being badly shattered.

Winchester, Va., March 31.—Alleging that his company is about $500 short on collections said to have been made by Malcolm J. Levy, of Staunton, Va., W. H. Cary, of Richmond, superintendent of agencies of the Mutual Union Life Insurance Company, of Richmond, has been in Staunton and vicinity for several days tracing some clues in connection with the case against the former agent. Mr. Cary alleges that Levy gave worthless notes in Staunton, where he lived for a number of years.

Levy is said to be in Maryland with his wife, who was Miss Lillian Williams, of Capon Road, Shenandoah county whom he married a few months ago. The announcement of his marriage to Miss Williams occasioned a general sensation in Staunton, as he was thought to have been a married man. Levy was arrested at Manassas, Va., on his wedding day and taken to Staunton for trial. His father-in-law, H. S. Williams, put up $400 cash security for Levy's appearance in court, but he skipped bail and has not been located. When he married Miss Williams, Levy is said to have deserted a woman who had passed as his wife in Staunton and with whom he is said to have lived for 15 years.

No Rioting in Covington.

Washington, March 31.—Secretary of War Garrison in a dispatch to the President today, declared that the report of rioting at Covington, Kentucky, was unfounded and that the mayor's call for troops to guard the city followed the cutting off of the lighting plant and some drunkenness in the city. The secretary wired that General Wood had communicated with the governor of Kentucky and that the latter had said there was no necessity for troops in Covington as he had sent officers to that place to swear in as many deputies as necessary to preserve order. Garrison asked the President to communicate the true situation to Representative Rouse and Senator James, of Kentucky, both of whom had been wired the first report about the riot.

UNION NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.

Mr. Brockett congratulated those present and the organizations they represented on the progressive spirit shown by the steps which they were taking to bring about the erection of a new school building. It was an array of better things for Alexandria, when so large a number of organizations represented took a part in the discussion of such vital importance to the future welfare of the city, and that too with the evident determination to push their mission to a successful conclusion.

A new school building he said could be erected without any general increase in the rate of taxation and the City Council should make provision for the erection of such a building at once, so that it would be ready for occupancy as the re-opening of the schools next fall.

After the address of Mr. Brockett the matter was discussed generally the discussion being participated in by Messrs. Studa and Sprouse of the Railway Carmen; Bladen of the Knights of the Maccabees; Pettay and Dawson of the Junior Order of American Mechanics; Robinson of the Glass Blowers and others.

The chairman was instructed to arrange for a hearing before the joint committee on finance and schools of the City Council. After which the meeting adjourned to meet subject to the call of the chairman.

The following are the organizations which participated in the meeting with the committees representing them.

Trades Council, Howard T. Colvin; Robert M. Prettyman, Robert Blason, and J. W. Collins; Carpenters and Joiners, Jno. Stone, T. E. Fones and C. A. Howard; Machinists, J. Jeffries, Robert Wright and Samuel Walker; Painters and Decorators, M. T. Burns, Wm. Rudd and C. E. Remington; Glass Blowers, W. H. Robinson, Sam Norcross, Arthur Gray and Bert Stout; Railway Carmen, W. R. Studa, M. E. Loveless, and J. A. Eppes; Blacksmiths, Thos. McDermott, Geo. W. Hall and W. T. Arnold; Brewery Workers, B. Schmidt, J. C. Schmidt & Theo. Miller, Jr.; Bottlers, E. Baier, Jos. Reynolds and Harry Norris; Order Fraternal Americans, George K. Bender, O. H. Daniels, and C. N. Cradlin; Jr. O. U. A. M., Belle Haven Council, F. W. Deaton, Al. Hardin and C. M. Hancock; Jr. O. U. A. M., Jackson Council, J. F. Pettay, T. F. Dawson, and S. A. Forrest; Daughters of Liberty, Geo. Crump, F. Jackson and C. R. Herbert; Knights of Maccabees, C. A. Bladen, J. E. Cunningham and T. I. Jones.

The leaders of this movement express the opinion that the size of this general committee will be greatly increased within the near future. Many organizations have not held meetings since the matter was first brought up and as soon as they hold meetings committees will be appointed to work in conjunction with the above.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

A sandstorm which raged for two days near Port Said nearly caused disaster to the German steamship Hohenfels, while bound from the East-Indies to Philadelphia, according to Captain Schmidt, master of the vessel now discharging cargo at Philadelphia. He said that the storm was as remarkable as severe, and struck the vessel on March 2nd, when she was passing through the Suez Canal. Members of the crew were blinded by the sand, and it was necessary to stop the vessel in the canal until the storm was over.

William D. Haywood leader of the Industrial Workers of the World, is in a cell at the police station at Paterson, N. J., on a charge of unlawful assemblage. With Haywood were also placed under arrest several prominent leaders of the striking silk operators; Haywood's incarceration was the result of an attempt of the leaders to hold a mass meeting of strikers within the city limits, notwithstanding the police had issued orders that the meeting would not be permitted yesterday.
